Juliet is a new rescue. No concerns at home. Eating/Drinking/Defecating normally.
 On exam, HR 54 (nervous), RR 16, T 99.5, normal gut sounds, normal ocular exam, no nasal discharge, no lameness appreciated.
 Teeth - excessive wear of upper arcades, closed diastema 206-7 and open diastema 207-8. Moderate lingual and buccal points reduced.
 Bloodwork eosinophilia and hyperglobulinemia. Recommend deworming. Suspect hyperglobulinemia is due to antigenic stimulation from the kill pen.

Newly acquired rescue, no concerns at home other than an odd hind limb gait that Julie describes as being hyperflexive. Eating/drinking/defecating normally. No hind end lameness or gait abnormalities observed today. HR 44, RR 20, T 98.9, normal gut sounds, normal respiratory auscultation, no nasal discharge, no other abnormalities noted. Bloodwork NSF. Teeth - moderate lingual and buccal points reduced, increased angle of Spee or angle up toward the caudal mandible, ETR 110 and 210 reduced. Advised Julie to video the hind limb gait if possible.

This colt was rescued from Ark. through way of the Thomas's. They noted that he had some sort of an oozing wound on his right side, but could not touch it. He has been eating well and defecating normally. On exam, HR 60 (nervous), RR 24, normal gut sounds, MM pink and moist, CRT <2, normal ocular exam. RF 4/5 lameness noted when he was brought in that is apparently new. He came to the Thomas's sound, and they just noted him being off yesterday. Julie picked him up from their place yesterday. No signs of obvious trauma to the limb and no swelling. Could not palpate digital pulses, but his feathers are quite thick. Frog sulci are quite deep and thrushy and there is an area where the sole has been gouged and separated as well. Suspect abscess - will treat as such and monitor response. Wound on the R side of the ventral abdomen is an old laceration that is in a U shape with the tip of the u still connected and scabbed. There is some discharge from the wound consistent with normal granulation tissue filling in from the inside out. I cleaned and clipped the area today in addition to flushing with dilute betadine. This colt is not a gelding and will need to be castrated. Both testicles are palpable. Teeth - moderate lingual and buccal points. Age consistent with 3 y. Bloodwork - NSF except low grade anemia of unknown clinical significance.

Castration performed in a routine manner with the patient in dorsal recumbency. Two parallel scrotal incisions were created after blocking each testicle with 10 mL of lidocaine. Both testicles were stripped out, isolating the cord. Each cord was ligated with a modified Miller's knot prior to placement of the emasculators distal to the ligation. Hemostasis was confirmed prior to release of both cords.

While the patient was under anesthesia, the resulting skin flap from the right ventral abdomen wound was trimmed off and the wound cleaned with dilute betadine.

Sadie is a new rescue that came through the Thomas's to Julie. She picked her up last night. Has supposedly been eating/drinking/defecating normally. They believe she is blind in both eyes. On exam, Sadie stands with a L head tilt. R eye is completely blind, L eye mostly blind but can see shadows enough that she hesitated coming in the building as opposed to being outside - negative menace, slight dazzle, slight PLR. She does not move with any signs of ataxia to accompany the head tilt. HR 48, RR 24, T 100.8, normal gut sounds, normal respiratory noises, no signs of nasal or ocular discharge. MM pink and moist, CRT <2. Bloodwork NSF except low grade anemia of unknown clinical significance. Teeth - moderate lingual and buccal points reduced. Crown fracture of 109 with missing palatal fragment and corresponding overgrowth of 409. This tooth likely needs to be extracted for comfort of the horse though there are no signs of sinusitis yet.

This mare was recently rescued. They noted that her L eye is abnormal, but she has done well otherwise over the last couple days. Eating/drinking/defecating normally.

On exam, she walks into the exam room well. BCS 6/9. Her left eye is shrunken with prolapse of the third eyelid and is completely blind. R eye has normal PLR and menace. Though the globe of the L eye may have been ruptured at some point, it is now static without obvious pain or tearing. We can take it out at some point if it appears to bother her or is a nidus for flies. HR 44, RR 16, T 99.9, normal GI borborygmi, normal respiratory auscultation. Mucoïd yellow nasal discharge present from both nostrils.

Bloodwork - marked elevation in SAA.

Teeth - Moderate to severe lingual and buccal points with buccal ulcers present adjacent to 107 and 207.

Administered Excede today and dispensed another shot to be given on Thursday.

This mare was recently acquired. She has a dermatologic condition and was treated for lice at the kill pen topically. They also noted a swollen L eye.

Exam: she walked into the exam room well. BCS 3.5/9. Diffuse alopecia and flaky skin, does not seem pruritic today. HR 56, RR 20, T 101.1, normal gut sounds, pleural rub auscultated cranioventrally on both sides of the lungs, slight tracheal rattle, no nasal discharge noted initially, but once she had her head down with sedation, yellow mucoid discharge was noted. No active ectoparasite infestation noted, but she passed feces during the exam that had strongyls in it. L lower eyelid is thickened with a firm swelling and retraction of the lid reveals possible SCCa. No normal third eyelid is able to be retropulsed, so I wonder if it was already resected and the cancer is a recurrence. We may be able to debulk it some, but I would like this mare to get more healthy before we try.

Bloodwork - moderate elevation in SAA.

Teeth - Moderate to severe lingual and buccal points reduced.

Recommend deworming with ivermectin today and then deworming with quest plus in 2 weeks. Monitor hair coat, if it is getting worse and not improving, we need to do a skin scrape and biopsy.

Administered excede today and dispensed another shot to give on Thursday in the muscle.

Will need vaccinated when more healthy.
